

Cindy Goldberg

Castilleja School

Cindy is the co-founder of Urban Market Bags, a company that designs and sells luxury reusable shopping bags. Cindy graduated from UC Santa Barbara with a degree in Business Economics and began her career at Andersen Consulting as a computer programmer immediately thereafter. She continued to work as a developer at Hewitt Associates and Visa in the following years. After leaving the professional workforce to have children, Cindy spent over nine years volunteering at Woodside Elementary School where she held a variety of board positions including PTA President for multiple years. In 2012, Cindy was awarded Woodside's Citizen of the Year award which recognizes a resident for outstanding contributions to the local community. She has been a member of the Board of Trustees of Castilleja School in Palo Alto since 2013 and during that time also worked as a graphic designer for Edible Silicon Valley Magazine.

Cindy and Evan focus their philanthropy on children's health and education as well as cancer research. In the past ten years, they have donated or pledged over $30 million to many worthy causes.
