

Julia M. Siebel
Assistant Vice President

Passion for Philanthropy: Julia M. “Julie” Siebel, PhD, believes that those who empower others by sharing their gifts, works, and creativity are ideally positioned to serve as catalysts for lasting and positive change in the world around us.

Experience: Julie brings nearly 30 years of fundraising experience in organizational leadership, strategic planning and analysis, campaigns, constituent engagement, operations management, institutional advancement, data mining, and communications with educational, healthcare, human and social service, and membership institutions. Throughout her career, Julie has consistently launched or enhanced programs designed to build engagement, receive substantial philanthropic support, and achieve excellence. Julie’s interests cover a large spectrum, both in terms of philanthropy and project management. She has dedicated her career to helping organizations achieve their philanthropic potential through volunteer engagement.

Currently, Julie serves as resident counsel for The J.F. Shea Therapy Center’s endowment campaign, Always. This transformational opportunity is building the core endowment and launching a planned giving program that will ensure The Shea Center will always exist, always maintain their excellent reputation, always have the financial flexibility to help their clients thrive, and always have the security to innovate. She remains of counsel with Easterseals Southern California’s $40 million Innovating for Independence Orange County initiative. Additional clients Julie has served include:

- Academy of Our Lady of Peace, San Diego, CA
- Age of Learning, Glendale, CA
