

ROGER CASTLE
CHIEF ADVANCEMENT OFFICER
LA REGIONAL FOOD BANK

Roger Castle is a professional fundraiser with nearly 20 years' experience in the nonprofit sector. As chief development officer at the Los Angeles Regional Food Bank, he is responsible for the strategic development, implementation and oversight of all fundraising activities to support the organization. A member of the senior management team, Roger oversees all staff across development, marketing and communications.

Before joining the Los Angeles Regional Food Bank, Roger served as the vice president of development at the Prostate Cancer Foundation, the largest philanthropic organization funding prostate cancer research globally. He led all donor stewardship and fundraising activities at the nonprofit, including the successful Home Run Challenge with partner Major League Baseball. Previously, Roger worked at the John Wayne Cancer Institute and Saint John's Health Center Foundation, and the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Roger graduated summa cum laude from the University of Tennessee at Martin with a bachelor's degree in education and was as a four-year member of the men's basketball team. He earned a master's degree, thereafter, from University of Tennessee, Knoxville.

Roger lives in Venice, California and enjoys sports, live music, and his three dogs.
