OVERVIEW

INTRODUCTION

Dear Friends in Christ,

It is with immense joy and gratitude that we present to you the 2023-2024 National Diocesan Report. This comprehensive analysis of stewardship and development practices across 75 Catholic dioceses and archdioceses in the United States is a testament to the unwavering dedication and commitment of our diocesan communities to fostering a culture of advancement and generosity.

The survey was conducted in collaboration with the International Catholic Stewardship Council (ICSC) and CCS Fundraising. The data were collected between July 2023 and June 2024 amid development office transitions, leading to an extended data collection period.

This is the third survey in the last decade. While we're encouraged by the participation of 75 compared to 64 and 63 in previous editions, the data allows us to make only directional observations. To provide deeper analysis, draw broader conclusions, and offer customized recommendations, these reports would benefit from a larger number of participants. We are grateful to those who have already completed the survey, and we still seek feedback from those who have not yet.

The analysis highlights both the achievements and challenges faced by arch/dioceses and provides strategic recommendations for enhancing stewardship initiatives. These findings underscore the tireless efforts of diocesan leaders, stewardship directors, and all those involved in advancing the mission of the Church.

We are incredibly proud of the progress made in areas such as offertory contributions, annual appeals, digital fundraising, planned giving, and major gifts. The increase in offertory from 2020 to 2022, the steady rise in annual appeal pledges and collections, and the growing embrace of digital fundraising platforms are just a few of the notable achievements detailed in this report.

As we look ahead, we are optimistic about the future of philanthropy. We remain confident that fundraisers and donors will continue to innovate, collaborate, and strive for greater impact. Together, we will build a more equitable, sustainable, and compassionate world. Your continued commitment to these principles is vital to the growth and sustainability of the Catholic Church in America.

Thank you for your dedication to fostering stewardship and for your interest in this important report. Together, we can continue to build vibrant, faith-filled communities that reflect our shared values and commitment to service.

With warm regards,

Michael Murphy, Executive Director, ICSC

Jim Kelley, Director of Development, Diocese of Charlotte; President Emeritus, ICSC

Patrick Grace, Executive Director, Catholic Community Foundation

Tom Kissane, Vice Chair, CCS Fundraising

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

From 2020 to 2022, there was a significant increase in offertory contributions across many dioceses. Notably, dioceses such as Las Cruces, Dallas, and Boise reported increases exceeding 20%, reflecting robust engagement and generosity among parishioners.

Annual appeals saw considerable success, with total pledged amounts rising from $278.1 million in 2019 to $300.4 million in 2021. Despite a decrease in the number of donors, the average gift size increased significantly from $390 to $455.

The average gift size has increased as the number of donors have decreased; a trend that is evidenced across arch/diocesan groups and fundraising initiatives.

There was a growing embrace of digital fundraising platforms. Blackbaud products led in usage, followed by GiveCentral and Our Sunday Visitor. This trend demonstrates arch/dioceses' adaptability to technological advancements to enhance fundraising efforts.

Planned giving and major gifts emerged as high-potential investment areas. Thirty-six (36) dioceses reported $77.8 million in realized gifts, with unrealized gifts of $778.2 million. This indicates a strong potential for future revenue through strategic engagement with donors.

Arch/diocesan staffing saw an increase, with larger arch/dioceses averaging more than 10 advancement staff members compared to nearly seven among smaller arch/dioceses.

Foundations are a pillar of the Catholic philanthropic landscape, with 52 arch/dioceses managing a collective $3.8 billion in assets across 6,535 endowments. The largest foundations, such as those in Miami and Dallas, manage assets exceeding $300 million.

Campaigns remain a critical component of diocesan fundraising strategies. Thirteen (13) dioceses are currently conducting campaigns, with another 26 planning to launch within the next two to four years.

The Diocese of Corpus Christi and Honolulu reported particularly successful campaigns, raising more than 170% of their goal.

Dioceses face challenges such as optimizing staffing, developing strategic planning, and seeking better technology. Innovations include restructuring CRM documentation, leveraging technology for engagement, and updating communications to reflect parish demographics.

RELIGION WAS THE TOP SECTOR RECIPIENT OF GIVING, DESPITE ITS DECLINING SHARE

Understanding the broader landscape of religious giving is essential for an informed reading of this report and assessing of Catholic philanthropy at large. Giving to religion, which includes contributions to places of worship, ministries and missions, religious media, and related organizations, remains the largest sector in charitable giving. According to Giving USA 2024, between 2022 and 2023, this sector saw a 3.1% increase, reaching approximately $145.81 billion. However, when adjusted for inflation, this figure represents a 1% decrease. The proportion of total giving attributed to religious organizations dropped from 27% in 2022 to 24% in 2023.

Over the past five years, the annual growth rate for religious giving averaged 3.1%, which is slower than the overall charitable giving growth rate of 5.3%. Despite this, the sector showed positive growth from 2021 to 2023, with a notable 7.8% increase.

Although the overall share of philanthropy given to religious causes has decreased, the rate of decline has widely lessened compared to the previous decade. According to Giving in Faith: Exploring Key Trends in Religious Giving, over 95% of faith-based donors gave to organizations or individuals, including places of worship, registered nonprofits, mutual aid groups, or directly to people in need. Among these donors, 60% contributed $1,000 or more. Parishioners provided 83% of the total funding for their places of worship, while 17% came from external sources. Additionally, 98% of houses of worship offered at least one digital giving option. Sixty percent (60%) of total annual contributions to houses of worship came from digital giving.

The 2024 CCS Fundraising Philanthropy Pulse reported that many faith communities responded that strong retention and having an endowment were core indicators of success. Remarkably, 64% of faith organizations reported retaining over half of their new donors in the past year, compared to 51% across all sectors. Religious organizations invested in community-based programs to appeal to a broader, generationally diverse audience and support sustained giving. This strategy appears effective, as Gen Z and Millennials report that they are likely to increase their giving to religious institutions.

75 DIVERSE ARCH/DIOCESES FROM ACROSS THE US ARE INCLUDED IN THIS REPORT

REPRESENTATION OF OUR 75 ARCH/DIOCESAN SAMPLE

The total number of parishes represented in our sample is 6,505, with an average of 87 parishes per arch/diocese. The number of parishes in each arch/diocese ranged from 27 in Shreveport, to 215 in the Archdioceses of Detroit and 205 in Cincinnati.

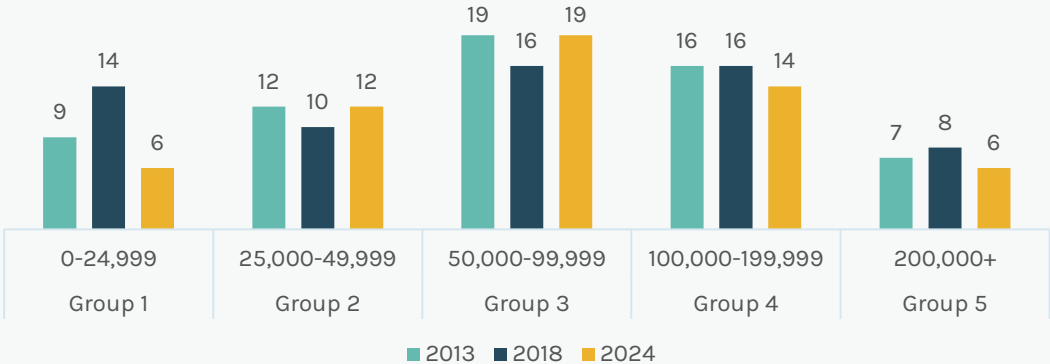

DATA WAS DIVIDED INTO 5 GROUPS BASED ON NUMBER OF HOUSEHOLDS

The data were subdivided, where specified, to situate arch/dioceses into groups based on the number of households.

PARTICIPATING ARCH/DIOCESES PER NUMBER OF HOUSEHOLDS

Data include those who offered household number from ICSC surveys in 2013, 2018, or 2024.

INSIGHT | Fifty-seven (57) arch/dioceses provided data for FY2020 - FY2022. We requested data over these three years to analyze the impact of the pandemic on giving and observe the subsequent recovery. Fifty-one (51) arch/dioceses reported that offertory increased between FY2020 and FY2022. One diocese reported no change, and five reported a decrease. Of those that reported increases, nine were up more than 10%, and four were up more than 20% during the time.

These programs engaged 1,040 volunteers and saw more than 9,740 commitment forms returned. Parishes increased giving by an average of 21%, resulting in a projected $8,676,111 (in current US dollars) increase in annual offertory. Some parishes even experienced an increase that approaches capital campaign results when calculated over five years. ANNUAL APPEAL

ANNUAL APPEAL GIFTS INCREASED BY 17%, NUMBER OF DONORS DECREASED BY 16%

INSIGHT | The overall decline in the number of donors has been attributed to economic uncertainties and shifting donor demographics. Economic factors such as inflation and changes in disposable income have made it more challenging for smaller donors to contribute. Despite the drop in the number of individual donors, major donors have become increasingly important.

From 2019-2021, goals declined slightly, while total pledged amounts increased from $278.1 million in 2019 to $300.4 million in 2021. The percentage of change in total pledged dollars also saw an upward trend, increasing by 12%. Amounts collected rose similarly, from $269.9 million in 2019 to $295.9 million in 2021. These growth trends were likely influenced by the COVID-19 pandemic. Despite a decrease in the number of donors from 712,344 in 2019 to 600,239 in 2021, the average gift size increased significantly from $390 to $455.

UP TO $92 MILLION IN FUTURE CASH CONFIRMED AND CONSIDERED AT THE ARCHDIOCESE OF KANSAS CITY

CASE STUDY | The Catholic Foundation of Northeast Kansas (CFNEK) engaged CCS to perform a gift planning assessment, which uncovered donor prospects and approximately $43 million to $92 million in undocumented gifts.

Together with CCS, the Foundation uncovered 440 priority legacy giving households through predictive modeling data analysis with potential giving capacity of $22M. We crafted an enhanced planned giving program roadmap to brand the Foundation as the gift planning expert across the archdiocese and local Catholic organizations.

“We hired CCS Fundraising because of their extensive experience with Catholic fundraising and specifically for their professional approach with high-end donors. We are very pleased with the information and road map provided by CCS.”

- Bill Maloney, Executive Director, Catholic Foundation of Northeast Kansas

The Challenge

CFNEK sought CCS’s help to increase endowment, scholarship, and donor-advised fund (DAF) assets for the long-term sustainability of parishes, schools, and ministries. CFNEK had not previously documented planned gifts or promoted DAFs and other noncash assets and aimed to raise awareness and strengthen relationships within the archdiocese.

The Solution

CCS conducted 51 interviews and an e-survey, identifying potential future gifts between $43M and $92M from 198 donors, along with 440 households for legacy giving with a capacity of $22M. We also interviewed seven Catholic foundations to benchmark best practices and crafted a gift planning roadmap, recommending two additional fundraising roles for CFNEK.

The Impact

Since partnering, CFNEK has started visiting donors, documenting gifts, marketing its DAF, and implementing a communications plan. The foundation has established relationships across parishes and created new endowments and scholarships for parish schools.

STAFF AND STRATEGY

STAFF SIZES AVERAGE BETWEEN 6-10 EMPLOYEES ACROSS DIOCESES

INSIGHT | Larger arch/dioceses ($40 million and above in assets) average almost 10 advancement staff members total between full and part-time staff. Smaller arch/dioceses average almost seven advancement staff members. On average, this is an increase of three stewardship and development staff members across all sized dioceses since the 2017 survey. Compared to other sectors, Catholic staff sizes run lean. For example, large universities that raise over $100 million annually typically have 50-100+ full-time and 10-30 part-time fundraising staff. Mid-sized universities ($20-$100 million in annual revenue) usually have 20-50 full-time and 5-15 part-time fundraising staff.

NEW INNOVATIONS ARISE IN THE FACE OF CHALLENGES

CHALLENGES ON THE HORIZON

Optimizing Staffing

Hiring, training, and retaining staff was a main difficulty facing many dioceses.

Focusing on Strategic Planning

Some dioceses found it challenging to identify their needs and build strategic plans to meet these needs.

Seeking Engagement

Parishes experienced a decline in church attendance, and dioceses felt an overall decline in Catholic population.

Utilizing Technology

Respondents are seeking better technology, including overall software and data management systems.

INNOVATIONS TO MEET THE MOMENT

CRM Documentation Restructured

Solicitations and gifts were tracked through the development office and diocesan foundation, rather than decentralized at parishes.

Technology Leveraged

QR codes were used across mailings and giving materials. Dioceses also used personalized “thank you” videos.

Culture Considered

Communications materials were updated to meet parish demographics. One diocese held a Spanish Stewardship Conference.

Utilizing Technology

Communications were automated and pre-made materials were prepared for parishes. Communication campaigns centered around anniversaries and new innovations.

CONCLUSION

KEY RECOMMENDATIONS

ONE | ENGAGE YOUR CURRENT AND PROSPECTIVE MAJOR DONORS

Now is the time to inspire your deepest supporters. Prioritize engagement opportunities and communications with major donors, ensuring both their immediate support as well as their lasting commitment to your mission. Predictive AI and statistical modeling offer powerful tools to help nonprofits leverage their resources more effectively and achieve fundraising success. Read more about how to implement these resources here.

TWO | RENEW YOUR CASE FOR SUPPORT

Donor profiles are evolving in line with demographic shifts among the Catholic community. To effectively engage with donors and align with their interests, consider integrating tailored concerns and culturally-appropriate messaging closely related to your unique mission into your case for support. View a new approach to writing a compelling case for support here.

THREE | LEVERAGE YOUR BOARD

The fundamental pillars of all successful fundraising efforts include a compelling case, strong governance, a comprehensive plan, and a robust donor pipeline. But what happens when you have worked your way through your pipeline and still need new ways to uncover new donor prospects? The easiest connections to leverage are existing ones, and using these relationships to reinvigorate your prospect pipeline can be a game changer. Learn more about engaging volunteer leadership here.

FOUR | TAP INTO GIFT PLANNING

Gift planning is crucial for nonprofits. According to Giving USA, bequests represent 7-9% of total donations over the past 40 years. With an aging donor base and legacy gift opportunities for arch/dioceses and parishes, integrating planned giving into fundraising can boost revenue and deepen donor relationships.

Legacy gifts comprised more than 16% of overall fundraising and 11% of campaigns. For more information, read the The State of Planned Giving in Fundraising: Legacy Gifts as the Future Cash Opportunity, offering a glimpse into best practices in gift planning culture and legacy giving across sectors nationwide.

FIVE | REVISIT SUCCESSFUL PANDEMIC-ERA STRATEGIES FOR DONOR RETENTION

Leverage direct-to-camera videos from key leaders, such as the Bishop, to emphasize the importance of donor participation and encourage further support with clear links for donations and additional information. Ministry leaders can share personalized impact stories through segmented videos tailored to specific audiences. Additionally, an end-of-year video serves as a powerful tool to inspire continued, first-time, or repeat gifts to the appeal. To ensure message consistency across parishes, priests should be equipped with Zoom training sessions, including prepared scripts, donation links, and suggested social media timelines. These sessions should feature pastors who have consistently exceeded annual appeal targets, showcasing their strategies and video presentations.
